Mountain Jointure Teachers Present Salary Schedule

Request Made For $3,800 To Start

By Leonard Randolph
TOBYHANNA — Teachers in Pocono Mountains Jointure last night presented a proposed salary schedule for study by the Joint School Committee's budget and finance group.

At a meeting in Coolbaugh Township School board members heard an explanation of the proposed schedule by Edward Slemmer. He heads the salary committee of the Pocono Mountain chapter of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Others who appeared with Slemmer at the board group meeting were: Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mount Pocono; Mrs. Jeanne May, Jackson Township; Joseph Battisto, Coolbaugh; and Ronald Davis, Tobyhanna Township. Slemmer teaches at Barrett.

The proposed schedule submitted by the teachers—which has been approved by all but one teacher in the jointure, Slemmer said—recommended starting salaries of $3,800 for teachers with a Bachelor of Science degree; $3,900 for those with a B.S. plus 15 hours toward their Master's; $4,000 for the M.A.; $4,100 for M.A. plus 15 hours and $4,200 for a Doctorate.

Maximum
Maximum salaries recommended in the schedule are: $5,400 for teachers with standard certification (non-degree); $5,800 for B.S.; $6,100 for the B.S. plus 15 hours; $6,200 for the B.S.; $6,500 for the M.A. plus 15 hours and $6,600 for those holding Doctorates.

In each of these cases the salary schedule would be $400 higher than the current state-mandated schedule. The state does not take into consideration periods of study in between degrees and sets no minimum or maximum for the Doctorate.

At the same time the teachers' committee presented a recommendation for a system of "service increments" which would reward teachers for years of duty. The formula for this would be $50 times a component reached by dividing the number of years of experience by five. (Thus: A teacher with 14 years' experience would receive $100 service increment since only the number divisible by five (in this case, 10) is used.)

The papers presented by Slemmer to the board sub-committee showed that the proposals for salary adjustments if begun in 1958-59 would be $35,550 above the cost of increments mandated by the state, over a three-year period. State-mandated increments will cost the jointure $44,268 during that time, the papers said. Total cost of the proposals submitted by teachers would be $79,818.

Anthony Bolyn, chairman of the budget and finance sub-committee, noted at the outset that "we planned to devote as much time as necessary to the salary committee (of the PSEA)." He opened the session at 8:26 p. m. and the discussion continued through 10:45.

Slemmer emphasized that "we can't begin to say what you should hire someone at, because that's controlled by supply and demand." Several references were made—by Slemmer, Battisto and Davis—to the fact that the jointure this year has hired beginning teachers with no experience at salaries of $4,000 per year.

The purpose of the schedule, Slemmer said, "is to bring people with experience up to the level with those who are starting out today. . . . Teachers (with the schedule in effect) should be brought to their proper place over a three-year period."

Requirements
He noted that "normal increments" which are required by the state are included in the proposed salary schedule. "But some of the people who were hired this year are already ahead of the schedule we have proposed," he said. "The fact that they would reach their maximum ahead of time is of no concern to us and we don't want to prevent that. We don't want to affect the salary they're being paid at all," Slemmer went on.

"A kid who comes in here next to me will be getting $4,000 and (Please turn to Page Five)

Leader To Speak On Shortway Belt

THE KEYSTONE Shortway and its impact on industrial development of the Shortway Belt will be discussed at a meeting next month at which Gov. George M. Leader will be the principal speaker.

It is the annual session of the Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission scheduled for July 8 at Genetti's Restaurant in Hazleton.

GEORGE M. LEADER, of Lansford, will serve as chair. He said the meeting is expected to draw the top 100 business, government and civic leaders of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

The Monroe County Chapter of the Keystone Shortway Assn. has been invited to send a delegation to the session. Victor C. Diehm is president of the commission.

Senators To Speed Action On Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed last night to meet two hours earlier than usual today in an effort to step up the pace in its consideration of the House-passed bill to grant statehood to Alaska.

There were cautious predictions from the bill's advocates that passage would come this week, possibly tomorrow, with no change from the House bill.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss), an all-out statehood foe, criticized Secretary of the Interior Sean for drumming up support for the bill.

Statement
"It is going pretty far," Eastland told the Senate, "for a Cabinet officer to ask the United States Senate to destroy the Constitution of the United States."

The Mississippiian contends the bill is unconstitutional. For one thing, he argues, it would bring Alaska into the Union with a status inferior to that of the other states.

Eastland said Sean wrote every member of the Senate lauding the House-passed bill as a workable compromise and urging the Senate approval of it.

Eastland said the bill's provisions about which he complained—chiefly the one under which the President could order national defense withdrawals of part of the new state's territory—would set a precedent for invasion of the rights of all states.

Lebanon Seeks Aid From U. N.

BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon asked the United Nations yesterday to seal off this country's land and sea frontier with armed force and stop the pumping of Syrian and Egyptian war supplies to Lebanese rebels.

Premier Sami Solh handed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld the request for a U. N. police force similar to that keeping the peace on the Israel-Egyptian border at Gaza. A special session of the U. N. General Assembly may be called to deal with the request.

Only a few hours after the request, dynamite blasts and heavy mortar, machine gun and rifle fire shattered Beirut's unofficial truce in three sections of the capital.

Rebels from behind their barbed wire on the outskirts of the Basta Moslem section opened fire down the long avenue leading to the city's main square.

U. S. Raps Reds For Demonstrations
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States yesterday accused Russia of ordering demonstrations against U. S., Danish and West German embassies in Moscow.

The State Department also charged Russia's official news agency Tass twisted the facts of last Sunday's demonstration by Hungarian refugees against the Soviet United Nations Mission in New York City.

Evaluation Of Teachers Major Subject

TOBYHANNA — Who should decide whether a teacher is doing a good job?

Should it be members of the school board as Anthony Bolyn, a school director from Paradise Township suggested last night?

Should it be teachers themselves, as Bolyn and Dr. Edward T. Horn Jr., a Pocono Township director, subsequently suggested?

Should it be a professional evaluating committee appointed by the school board and the administration, as teachers suggested?

Or should it be the administrator working in combination with the County education office?

The subject arose last night as the final portion of a discussion of a proposed salary schedule for teachers in Pocono Mountain Jointure. Dr. Horn noted that "there's no mention here of merit pay increases for good teachers. There are some poor teachers who have taught 23 years and there are some mighty good ones who have only been teaching three years."

Donald Davis, member of the teachers committee, said: "Many teachers recognize that there are bad ones. But the question comes up that if there are some teachers who are so bad, how did they slip by? The board has two years (before tenure) to get rid of them."

Horn said: "You don't know how hard it is to get rid of a poor teacher. I think a group of teachers helping us set up a salary schedule should also help us get rid of bad teachers."

Ed Slemmer, another teacher, replied: "But we don't have anything to say in hiring these people. The board hires them and passes on their qualifications." Teachers at the meeting contended that an employee can be dismissed for incompetence.

Harry Drennan, a Barrett board member, said that "incompetence does not stand up in court. . . . It's never been proven yet. I've never known of a teacher losing a case when he was fired for incompetence."

Bolyn asked: "Would teachers be willing to let school boards rate them?"

The teachers said no. Battisto added: "Would doctors want a layman to rate them?"

"Well, now that you're protected by tenure, I think you teachers should screen your own profession," Bolyn said.

Observation
Mrs. Jeanne May, a third teacher, said: "Teachers are supposed to be observed and rated by their administrators and the county school office. I believe if you're rated unsatisfactory twice in a row, by your supervisor and the county office, the board has no recourse save to fire you."

Dr. Edmund Magann, Barrett, said there is a difference between teachers and other professions. "If you don't like a doctor you don't have to go to him. But the kids in a classroom have no choice with a bad teacher," he said.

Teachers attending the meeting were in agreement that the problem of evaluating and possibly dismissing a teacher is a problem of the hiring board and the administrators.

McElroy Writes On Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy put in writing yesterday an assurance that top Pentagon military and civilian leaders are free to testify before Congress without fear of reprisals.

The assurance, demanded by Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, apparently ended a feud between the two on that question.

DISPUTE over which union should have workers on pile-drivers used in construction of new Stroudsburg Thruway came out yesterday. Here pickets Arthur Brands, Stroudsburg RD 2, and Sherwood Gower, Stroudsburg, members of Local 454, Wharf and Dockbuilders Union, carry signs saying they are out of work because alleged use of laborers to operate machines is "unfair."

Congressmen To Discuss Shortway

A MEETING OF congressmen interested in speeding construction of the Keystone Shortway across the middle of Pennsylvania has been called for next Wednesday at 2 p. m. in Washington, D.C.

All House members whose districts lie among the Shortway Belt in Pennsylvania have been invited to attend, along with a number of congressmen from Ohio and New Jersey whose districts also will be affected by the Shortway.

The Keystone Shortway Assn. will be represented by Martin Cohn, acting president; C. E. Noyes, executive director; Paul Cerula, of Hazleton; Clifford L. Cramer, Monroe County Chapter president; Horace G. Heller, Eastern District director at large; and a group from the Sharon area.

Groundwork for the meeting was laid two weeks ago when Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), called upon all congressmen whose districts will be traversed by the highway to join him in a new plea to the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to speed work on the Stroudsburg-Sharon route.

The group has invited Bertram D. Tallamy, federal roads administrator, to meet with them next Wednesday and discuss means of removing roadblocks standing in the way of early construction.

Tallamy already has approved detailed locations of the eastern and western portions of the route and is awaiting details of the central section from Harrisburg.

Dulles Accuses Russia Of Attempting To Veto Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Eisenhower's backing, Secretary of State Dulles last night accused Russia of suddenly attempting to veto nuclear talks set to open in Geneva Tuesday.

Dulles hurled this accusation after discussing with Eisenhower for 30 minutes Russia's surprise threat to pull out of the Switzerland meeting. Eisenhower cut short a golf game to meet with Dulles.

Vessel Sinks In East River

NEW YORK (AP) — Uneasy patrols ranged over the fuel-charged East River yesterday after a flaming ship collision which sank one vessel and covered miles of water with gasoline.

Two crewmen were lost in the spectacular disaster which occurred when a Swedish freighter plowed into an American tanker. Thirty-seven other persons were injured.

Traffic Suspended
The fiery crash flung a dazzling aura over postmidnight New York City. Manhattan Bridge, high above the ships, caught fire briefly. The burning tanker sank, losing a flood of volatile fuel over the river's surface.

For hours all river traffic was suspended. By noon, backed up boats were permitted to creep warily past the wreckage zone. Swift current in the river carried much of the fuel away.

The demonstration was held anyway. The U. S. memo, made public by the State Department, noted Tass reported New York police didn't protect the Soviet U. N. mission and "in reality encouraged the provocative acts."

This account, the U. S. note said, "does not correspond to the facts." The U. S. note said 135 New York policemen struggled against the crowd and arrested nine persons. It said four police officers were injured. None of this was reported by Tuesday in Russia, the department said.

Charges Fly In Stormy Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House inquiry into alleged influence peddling got back into high gear yesterday at a gavel-banging session in which a former chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission accused the investigators of trying to muzzle him.

In turn, members of the House subcommittee on legislative oversight charged the witness — J. Sinclair Armstrong, now an assistant secretary of the Navy—of evasion, filibustering and impertinence.

It was the committee's stormiest session since some meetings that led up to the firing of the group's one-time chief counsel, Bernard Schwartz, who steered the inquiry into its present direction.

Yesterday's hearing bore mainly on whether President Eisenhower's chief assistant, Sherman Adams, did more than he should have for his old Boston friend and benefactor Bernard Goldfine.

Lost In Shuffle
Adams and Goldfine all but got lost in the shuffle, however, in high-pitched exchanges between Armstrong and committee members. Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) at one point whammed his gavel down and dismissed Armstrong from the witness chair.

At a later point Armstrong, who has had trouble with Congress before in the Dixon-Yates utility case, shouted at the committee: "You're trying to muzzle me."

He was, indeed, called by gavel and otherwise to answer questions more briefly and directly.

But the boyish-looking Chicago lawyer was not intimidated. He said at the outset he was outraged that anyone should think SEC could be influenced from the outside.

He said, too, with considerable sharpness, that the case could have been handled far more promptly if Congress had voted the money for needed manpower. Adams has testified he once had White House counsel Gerald D. Morgan ask SEC about the status of a case it had pending against Goldfine's East Boston Co.

Adams and a number of SEC officials have denied that Goldfine got favored treatment as a result of Adams' interest in the case.

Armstrong argued with all the committee members and Harris, in a gavel-banging mood, took the former SEC chairman at his word when Armstrong said he wanted more time to recommend improvements in the law governing SEC.

Armstrong at one point left uncertain whether he would return for an afternoon session, but he did show up.

He sharply denied suggestions by Rep. John Bennett (R-Mich) that SEC dragged its feet in proceeding against Goldfine's firm in court.

Wildcat Strike Ends At Missile Plant

DETROIT (AP) — A rebel group of United Auto Workers have agreed to end a wildcat strike at Chrysler's missile plant near Detroit.

Officers of Local 1245 yielded late yesterday to an ultimatum from UAW President Walter P. Reuther that they call off the strike or face suspension.

At the same time, Chrysler Corp. obtained a court order against the local to halt mass picketing at the plant which assembles Redstone and Jupiter rockets for the Army.

The three-day strike, with incidents of picket line violence, crippled production at the government-owned plant, Chrysler said it plans to resume normal operations today.

On Carpet
Reuther called officers of the local on the carpet yesterday afternoon before the union's 25-member International Executive Board. The board voted to place an administrator over the local if it persists in the strike.

Officers of the local promised to get the strikers back on the job yesterday morning. The unauthorized strike has embarrassed the UAW leadership in its efforts to keep some 500,000 workers on the job at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford plants. They have been working without contracts since June 1 while the union has been attempting to negotiate new wage agreements.

The local represents only 450 of the 8,500 highly skilled employees at the plant. The strikers complained that the company discriminated against UAW members in job assignments and overtime. The company denied this.

Borough Water Rates Expected To Increase

AN $800,000 bond issue for construction of a filter plant and improvements in the borough's water system was sold by the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority last night to Blair and Co., Inc., Philadelphia.

Increases in water revenues for all classes of consumers are expected to be approved at a special meeting of the authority, July 7, at which a supplemental

The bid price on the bonds was 98. Coupon rate is three to three and three-quarters per cent and the effective interest rate is 3.69.

Approval of the negotiated bid from Blair and Co., financial advisers to the authority, came after a representative of Albright and Friel, the authority's consulting engineers, reported on a tabulation of bids received at a meeting earlier this month for work on the filter plant and main extensions.

The spokesman reported that all low bidders on the project are financially responsible and acceptable to the engineering firm.

The authority then awarded the bids on the six phases. The contracts and the low bidders:

Contract One, 28,230 feet of 10 and 12-inch cast iron water main, Atkinson and Peterson Co., Bethlehem, RD 2, $258,133.85.

Contract Two, structural steel work for filter plant and water storage reservoir, Henkels and McCoy, Philadelphia, $199,334.

Contract Three, mechanical work at filter plant, Roberts Filter Manufacturing Co., Darby, $87,300.

Contract Four, electrical work, John R. Walker, Chalfont, $25,100.

Contract Five, heating and ventilation, H. C. Archibald Co., Stroudsburg, $4,640.

Contract Six, 650,000-gallon stainless steel reservoir tank, Chicago Bridge and Iron Co., Philadelphia, $28,930.

The rate increases proposed by Albright and Friel will amount to 50 percent for all consumers. The average annual water bill of domestic users — home owners — will go from $21.60 to $32.13. Income from sprinkler systems and hydrants in industrial use will increase from $1,550 to $8,600 annually under the new rates and commercial and industrial firms on meters will pay approximately $18,777 annually, compared to the current $5,574.

The rate schedule prepared by the engineers were approved by Blair and Co. The increase in rates is designed primarily to provide for debt service during the life of the bonds.

The First Pennsylvania Co. of which is scheduled for Aug. 11, but may be extended by mutual agreement.

The increases, effective Aug. 1, generally amount to 10 percent but no individual increase can be greater than $594 a year. The Civil Service Commission said the increases will be included in checks due in September.

Bulletin

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A fire-belching Navy Vanguard rocket streaked aloft early today, carrying what could be America's fourth satellite toward distant space.

In two hours, word was to come from Washington on the success or failure of this latest attempt to hurl the misfortune-plagued "beak at ball" moon into orbit around the earth.

The bullet-shaped rocket thundered up from a huge cloud of smoke and flame shortly after the stroke of midnight. The satellite is 20 inches in size and weighs 21 and one-half pounds.

This was the sixth firing of the intricate and temperamental three-stage Vanguard. Only once has it succeeded in its mission—when it launched the little "grapefruit" moon last March 17.

Russians Riot At U. S. Embassy
MOSCOW (AP) — More than 1,000 screaming, banner-waving Russians staged a rowdy "Yankee go home" demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy yesterday.

Some shouted the Soviet equivalent of "dirty S.O.B." Previous demonstrations heavily damaged the West German and Danish embassies, but the U.S. Embassy emerged unscathed. The only stone thrown went through an open window.

The crowd surged against 150 Soviet policemen forming a solid line on the sidewalk in front of the embassy. It made no serious effort to break through.

Some of the slogans, in English and Russian, read: "Yankee go home." "Hands off Lebanon." "Down with war."

"Long live the Hungarian Socialist party with Kadar at its head."

The well-organized, well-controlled demonstration was in retaliation for Sunday's demonstration against the Soviet U. N. headquarters in New York. A group of Hungarians there were protesting the executions of Imre Nagy and other Hungarian leaders.

Soviet Press
Last week's demonstrations at the Danish and German embassies came quickly after publication in Moscow of news about anti-Soviet demonstrations in Copenhagen and Bonn.

The Soviet press yesterday reported the New York rioting. So the U.S. Embassy was prepared. Windows were boarded, the first floor cleared and all Russian employees were given the day off.

Demonstrators marched up to the 10-story building in columns. They flaunted their banners, shouted and shook their fists.

Some of the Americans looked out upstairs windows.

Hellertown Resident Wins International Presentation

CHICAGO (AP) — An arthritic night watchman who has made more than 15,000 toys for orphans and crippled children was cited yesterday for "service to mankind" at a convention of Sorotoma Service Clubs.

Recipient of the Sorotoma international award is Asher Arthur Ache of Hellertown, Pa., who does much of his toy work when arthritis pains keep him from sleeping.

Ache, 60, a bachelor, began the project about 30 years ago and estimates he has spent from $50 to $60 monthly for materials.

Proper Treatment Answer To Successful Apple Crop

By George Abraham
THE HOME ORCHARD—An apple tree in the back yard, producing a few good apples and a lot of wormy ones is still better than no fruit tree at all.

However, there's no reason why you can't have fairly good fruit if you follow a simple spray program. You can buy an all purpose mixture from any seed store, or you can mix your own.

Here's a mixture suggested by Cornell which you can try: Malathion 25 percent wettable powder, two tablespoons; methoxychlor, 50 percent W. P., 3 tablespoons, and Captan 50 percent W. P., three tablespoons, all mixed in one gallon of water.

For apples, you can spray at 10 to 14 day intervals until mid-August or 20 days before harvest, whichever comes first.

If you grow peaches, you spray about first week in July and again the first week in August. Where leaf curl is a problem, count on using a dormant spray of Ferbam, one tablespoon to a gallon of water, before the buds begin to swell.

The general purpose mixture is ineffective for a dormant spray.

Each time you spray before to shake or agitate the mixture so that it will be uniformly mixed.

Thorough spraying is essential. Give the tree a good soaking. Spray after a rain, if possible. If you have several fruit trees it would be well to look into the possibility of buying a small portable power sprayer, to be used for spraying shrubs around the home, and your shade trees.

Mushroom Fairy Rings—Home owners are often puzzled to find a large ring, about six feet in diameter, with toadstools growing around the ring.

The grass within the ring is a dark green. This ring of mushrooms is known as "Fairy Rings," caused by soil-inhabiting mushrooms or toadstools, which according to the best theories, are effective competitors for nutrients and may form a mat beneath the soil, interfering with water movement.

The early symptoms are deep green-colored rings, and the turf in this deep green area may eventually die and the ring will move outward as the disease progresses. We've seen the fairy ring circles anywhere from two to 25 feet in diameter.

Control—Apply dolomitic limestone at rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet to the whole lawn. Repeat application in late Autumn at double this rate.

If the ring persists the following year, try perforating the ring with a spade or aerating tool, and apply corrosive sublimate at two ounces per 1,000 square feet. Water heavily to wash the fungicide into the holes.

Some recommend drenching the ring with iron sulfate, but I think corrosive sublimate is more effective.

Let's Get Going

A publication which is particularly applicable to Monroe County has just been released for public use by the Bureau of Community Development, Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

Entitled "Planning—and Your Community," the 76-page handbook is "an attempt to provide a basic understanding of the process of community planning and the results it should produce in a community when it is fully utilized."

We recommend it to every municipal office-holder — county, borough and township — in the county. In fact, it should be required reading inasmuch as we are now entering a new stage of rapid development of the area.

This will be brought about by construction of major highways in almost every section of the county. Undeveloped areas will be opened up to new enterprises, new settlements.

Industrial leaders are looking to Monroe County as the possible site for new plants. The reason is simple: we are closer to New York's sprawling metropolitan area than any other region except New Jersey, where industries are reluctant to locate because of that state's trend toward higher taxes on corporations.

Another factor affecting land use and values in Monroe County centers on the growing popularity of the Pocono Mountains as a vacationland. New recreation facilities planned for both the near future and the years to come will create additional demands for large and small land holdings.

How are property values to be protected from the hodge-podge growth which certainly will result if some sort of controls are not put into effect before long?

As we have said many times before, the only practical answer is to be found through a sensible planning program set up far in advance of actual development processes.

Responsible authorities should act now, not wait until disorderly growth creates problems which cannot be solved before irreparable damage has resulted.

We urge these officials to get a copy of the handbook, "Planning—and Your Community," and let it serve as a primer for local planning. After getting better acquainted with what planning is and does, they can go on from there in setting up their own program.

As the handbook says, "Planning can be of tremendous value to you and your community, but if planning is to work for you, you must work for planning."

Paroles Help Some

Criminals that are given a "break" through paroles do make good with a second chance in Pennsylvania and the state parole board, through Chairman Paul J. Gernert, has evidence to prove it.

During a 10-year study in the nine-county district around Harrisburg 1,274 criminals were paroled and given a chance to go straight. Of this number, 1,071 reformed while 203 were repeaters. That's an 84 per cent average, which is considered most excellent.

For the entire state about 82 per cent of the paroled prisoners reform, when given a helping hand by the state.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Want Adams Ousted

Washington—Top Republican leaders of Congress are frankly telling President Eisenhower that Sherman Adams "will have to go."

That is the inside significance of those statements by Senators William K. Knowland, Cal., Wallace Bennett, Utah; Roman Hruska, Neb.; and other powerful GOP chiefs characterizing Adams as a party liability who had outlived his usefulness.

These blunt pronouncements were not "accidental." They are the result of backstage discussions and planning.

That included directly informing the President that most of the Congressional leaders are of the view he should get rid of Adams. To support this contention, a private poll of 25 GOP chiefs shows 18 for ousting Adams, 5 against, and 2 "noncommittal."

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., was "consulted" by Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.) before he announced that Bernard Goldfine will testify before the investigating committee on July 1. Rayburn advised Harris to put the Massachusetts industrialist on the witness stand.

"I get divided opinion on Adams," Harris said. "What is your judgment?"

"Definitely for calling him before your committee," replied Rayburn. "He is entitled to have his say, if he wants it. And your committee should have a lot of questions to ask. There are a number of things that should be cleared up regarding his relations with Adams and others in high places."

Another top White House aide is under scrutiny by the probers.

Gerald Morgan, Special Counsel to the President, is under inquiry concerning reputed efforts to influence the Securities & Exchange Commission on cases involving Goldfine.

Flashes—The casualty toll in Lebanon is far greater than press reports have indicated. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has intelligence and military reports putting the dead in this month-long conflict at more than 600 and the wounded at around 1,700. These reports also state the rebels, offered by Syrians and Egyptians, control about one-third of Lebanon's principal cities—Beirut, Tripoli and Sidon.

Intelligence also has reported that Syria's Soviet-equipped army of 55,000 is virtually mobilized, and that new Russian equipment is constantly flowing into the country from Egypt.

While dictator Nasser is visiting in Yugoslavia, the Egyptian air force has received a number of MIG-17s, Russia's equivalent of our "Century series" fighter-interceptors.

Fishermen's Luck

George Sokolsky Says...

Tribute To Swope

The art of reporting has changed as governments have devised methods of depriving the public of the truth. What made Herbert Bayard Swope one of the two or three most competent reporters of all time was that he long recognized that really to know what is going on, a reporter must be inside the story. In a word, while many of his contemporaries were standing outside a door, waiting for a great man to come to them to give them a statement, Swope, even as a young man, was dining with the foremost great man and was probably helping him to write the statement.

During the 40 years, boy and man, that I have known Swope, I have come to recognize why so many lesser and incompetent men envied him his combination of ability to get at the central facts, his vast knowledge of men and events, his enormous memory and his capacity to organize facts.

To listen to Swope discourse on the difference between a reportorial account and an editorial account of a situation was a lesson in journalism which would help many of this younger generation to understand the reason why, with superior communications, the news is not only belated but often an opinionated mishmash of a situation.

Herbert Bayard Swope possessed qualities of aristocratic bearing and noble living which are genetic not cultivated and which opened to him doors which were closed to others. His was the grand manner and the noble gesture and he was able to get a Wall Street story at the race track with greater ease than a financial writer could get it in the Stock Exchange.

I had known Herbert Bayard Swope for perhaps 40 years, with more or less intimacy for a quarter of a century, and I mourn him with both affection and respect.

When a William Randolph Hearst or a Joseph Pulitzer went after a politician or a predatory businessman, the devil trembled in his boots. He knew that the newspapers would get him and the newspapers served the public interest.

But at that time newsprint was not expensive. There was no radio and television to take the cream off the advertising appropriations. Salaries were comparatively small and newspapers regarded their work as a calling not a job.

They worked around the clock with joy in their hearts because they were making a new world. It was a time of giants in this profession.

Herbert Bayard Swope never went to college, but his knowledge of literature and history was universal and his use of English as a tool was craftsmanlike. He came of a cultured family of distinguished Jews who had settled in St. Louis. His brother, Gerard, whom he admired, worked for General Electric and became its head. Gerard was an introvert; Herbert an extrovert. Between them was a tremendous affection and understanding.

The friendship between Herbert Bayard Swope and Bernard Baruch has often been misinterpreted as an employer-employee relationship. To the vulgar, everything is cast in the mold of a coin. These men had been close and intimate friends and to make a trio, the name of Winston Churchill might be added. It was a friendship based upon personal affection, like-mindedness and the give and take of great knowledge of affairs.

I had known Herbert Bayard Swope for perhaps 40 years, with more or less intimacy for a quarter of a century, and I mourn him with both affection and respect.

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

Broadway: The Street O' Dreams

Celebs About Town: Zillionaire Winthrop Rockefeller (listed in Who's Who as a farmer) strolling the Fifth Avenue past plus h omburg and cane. ... Herbert Hoover (rec-u perating from surgery) on a park bench tossing peanuts to the pigeons. ...

Terry Moore turning necks as she girls-it into the Brill Bldg. where songwriters gather. ... Robert Montgomery holding onto his straw-kady at the southeast corner of 57th and 5th. ... Jackie Cooper telling chums he paid $25 for a pack-of-gum. Got caught tossing the wrapper into the street instead of the litter-wicker. ... Sophia Loren hips-notizing the El Morocco wolves. ... Hope Hampton shopping for white satin cravats. Gifts for her various Romeos.

Sallies In Our Alley: Groucho Marx, appearing in "Time for Elizabeth" at Laconia Lakes (New Hampshire) Playhouse, was warned about the bats that wing into the theater during a performance. "That's fine," said Groucho, "it'll be like playing with my brothers again." ... Chicki James (of the Cafe de Paris girl dept) was chatting with a columnist. ... "You ought to go to H'wood," he yawned. ... "I know," chuckled Chicki, "The walk'll do me good."

Tin Pan Alley Vignette: The column recently reported that the most popular song in 50 years ("Stardust") included this prophetic line: "Leaving me a song that will not die." ... A newspaper syndicate followed that tip and sent out a very interesting history about our 2nd National Anthem.

The interview, quoting Mitchell Parish, author of that song's beautiful poetry and he often fathers the sonnets in the tower of this column, says: "At first the song didn't do too much—in 1931. But it started to grow in popularity. Then Walter Winchell heard it and loved it. He started plugging it and he consolidated its popularity." ... That is not the story. ... According to the publishers, "Stardust" originally an instrumental (without words), had been gathering dust on the shelves for two years when this column started raving about it. ... The numerous orchids attracted the eyes of the Paul Whitmans, Guy Lombardos, Wayne Kings and other band headliners, who introduced it as "Winchell's favorite melody." ... Mr. Parish was invited to marry words of love to Hoagy Carmichael's epic and made it even more beautiful. ... "When our love was new—and each kiss an inspiration."

The Midnight Line: Desilu, richest teevee film producers in Movietown, didn't lose one program this year. They sold more pictures than ever and received higher prices than any competitor. ... Their rival made a dozen "pilots"—none peddled yet. ... Variety now has a special reporter in H'wood to "cover" the scene for the New York branch. ... Don't invite Dept: Hugh O'Brian and columnist Rona Barrett of Photoplay. ... Or Col. Parker (Presley's mgr.) and Elvis. They wanted to shoot Life's furlough disc session. Parker nix'd it with: "No bread. No spread." ... The second time he's done it to that mag. ... Ginger Rogers feels ginger-peechee about rich patent lawyer John Adams. ... Mrs. Sammy Davis, Jr. is said to be more beautiful than any of his Caucasian admirers. ... She says no divorce. His pals say: "Hmmm."

The quality of mercy, extended to every type of animal by the Monroe County SPCA has national acceptance and dates back to the days of Henry Bergh.

In these modern times there has come a fuller appreciation of the dog and his importance to man. Companionship of man and dog extends to the dim beginning of civilization. In the history of the dog lies the history of people. The love of the dog is reflected in the finer instincts of all humans. The dog is mentioned in some of the earliest parts of the Old Testament. In the course of some forty references to him in the Bible one learns that he has made his home wherever and however his master was satisfied. Through the ages dog has traveled westward to find his greatest home in the United States.

Understanding between man and dog has grown through the generations. A partnership that endures happiness and sorrow—and some of such force as to attract attention of world historians.

It is felt that the SPCA needs help. Needs your help. In presenting a conception of an ideal gift in a fixed amount toward their great work, let each give according to his or her conviction. ... But give something now. If only your vest pocket change.

Mail your contributions to the Monroe County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, East Stroudsburg, Pa. Pay your dues, too. It will be helpful in making the society's accomplishments easier and who knows, you may be helping the dog which might save someone's life tomorrow.

Eiseborrdt wonders if anyone in this vicinity owns a Komondor dog. When the present home-site was purchased, one of the breed was given in the bargain. The dog can be described as one of the three breeds of working dogs in the sheep and cattle countries of Hungary.

He is a mighty fellow with strong bones and stands about 30 inches at the shoulder. His head is impressive and has a general appearance of commanding. At first sight he is likely to create fear. He is unexcelled as a guard for herds and home. He is a devoted companion and mingles with friends of his master readily. He dislikes being tied. He does not have a well-groomed appearance. He likes to live out of doors.

During an ice and sleet storm, when given food indoors, he prefers to take the bones outside for eating. He is cunning covered with icicles from head to foot. He is heavily matted and his head covered all over with long hair. He is an alarmist and protector of man. While Eiseborrdt traveled through the heavily wooded area of the Poconos, the dog circled him at a distance of about 50 yards. A call to the name Pitko brought immediate response to the master.

Fear of snakes and other wild life was eliminated with his presence. He responds to care and when reared in kennels and prepared for a show, he is among the handsomest of dogs. Unfortunately, the one given to Eiseborrdt in a bargain was accidentally killed on the highway about seven years ago. He was one of the prized possessions of Eiseborrdt.

New Look For Telephone Directories

The new Bell Telephone Directories, scheduled to be distributed late this week and next week, will have a new look.

The heading for the first time will read, "Pocono Mountains," followed by "Monroe County and Nearby Points."

This should make local resort interests very happy. Resort men joined in an appeal to Bell Telephone Co. to include "Pocono Mountains" as top billing this year. The utility graciously agreed to make the change. In the past the top heading was "Monroe County and Nearby Points."

PFC George Felker, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, is scheduled to leave Camp Lejeune, N. C., for California today.

George, a member of Uncle Sam's Marine Corps, expects to go overseas in the near future.

Mrs. Clyde Hastings departed for California on Tuesday to visit with relatives.

Mrs. Hastings lives at White Heron Lake.

Eugene Creech, Stroudsburg, recovered his lost beagle hound.

This was the dog reported found earlier this week by Al and Joan Carulla.

Mrs. Otto Gem, White Heron Lake, is currently visiting in New York.

Mrs. Gem is visiting with her son and daughter-in-law.

Maggie Kelly, well known employe at Harry's Farm, is planning a trip to Ireland in the Fall.

She's our favorite Irishman and she's been around that Blarney Stone plenty.

Thomas Barry is currently fighting off an illness at his home.

Tom lives at 912 Scott St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Betty Brader, Tannersville, is also on the sick list at the present time.

Everyone is rooting for an early recovery.

Preventing Cruelty

Prior to a hundred years ago animals and children were considered property without rank. Nothing was done to prevent the ill treatment of horses, dogs, other animals and children. Driven to uselessness by overwork and abuse, horses were turned to starvation in the streets of old New York. Stations for watering and resting of car horses did not appear until the Civil War.

In those early days the Dog Pound was one of the shames of New York City. The pound keeper was usually a hard, brutal man and petty racketeer. Mistaken belief that hot weather caused dogs to go mad, the city offered 50 cents apiece for stray dogs brought to the pound in Summer.

Dogs were kept at the pound until the evening, then drowned. One man complained that his valuable puppy was stolen 11 times in five weeks. Each time his pet was found at the pound and retrieved with the payment of money to the keeper.

With a fortune inherited from his ship-building father, the life of Henry Bergh provides an amazing story toward preventing cruelty. Even though it is difficult to believe that protection for animals and children did not always exist among educated people, the first law against the cruelty was enacted by the New York Legislature in 1866.

Three years later the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was organized. Not until eight years later, in 1874, did the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children come into being.

All humans should make themselves familiar with the useful and fruitful life story of Henry Bergh and his fortune. Detailed reading can be found in "Friend of Animals," by Mildred Pace, and "New York in the Eighties" of Valentines Manuel.

The Monroe County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had a bread and cake sale at Wyckoff's Department Store last Saturday. The local SPCA depends entirely upon its membership paying dues and various small endeavors to keep going. Indeed, the assignment is a difficult one for those in charge locally.

People take their dog, cat or other pet to the local organization who shelter and feed them until a new home can be found. Meanwhile it's the cost of food and human care that enters the picture. No money is solicited, except when the animal is adopted a donation is solicited. Sometimes crippled animals are brought there and then the society has additional expense for lethal anesthesia where healing methods have failed.

The quality of mercy, extended to every type of animal by the Monroe County SPCA has national acceptance and dates back to the days of Henry Bergh.

In these modern times there has come a fuller appreciation of the dog and his importance to man. Companionship of man and dog extends to the dim beginning of civilization. In the history of the dog lies the history of people. The love of the dog is reflected in the finer instincts of all humans. The dog is mentioned in some of the earliest parts of the Old Testament. In the course of some forty references to him in the Bible one learns that he has made his home wherever and however his master was satisfied. Through the ages dog has traveled westward to find his greatest home in the United States.

Understanding between man and dog has grown through the generations. A partnership that endures happiness and sorrow—and some of such force as to attract attention of world historians.

It is felt that the SPCA needs help. Needs your help. In presenting a conception of an ideal gift in a fixed amount toward their great work, let each give according to his or her conviction. ... But give something now. If only your vest pocket change.

Mail your contributions to the Monroe County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, East Stroudsburg, Pa. Pay your dues, too. It will be helpful in making the society's accomplishments easier and who knows, you may be helping the dog which might save someone's life tomorrow.

Eiseborrdt wonders if anyone in this vicinity owns a Komondor dog. When the present home-site was purchased, one of the breed was given in the bargain. The dog can be described as one of the three breeds of working dogs in the sheep and cattle countries of Hungary.

He is a mighty fellow with strong bones and stands about 30 inches at the shoulder. His head is impressive and has a general appearance of commanding. At first sight he is likely to create fear. He is unexcelled as a guard for herds and home. He is a devoted companion and mingles with friends of his master readily. He dislikes being tied. He does not have a well-groomed appearance. He likes to live out of doors.

During an ice and sleet storm, when given food indoors, he prefers to take the bones outside for eating. He is cunning covered with icicles from head to foot. He is heavily matted and his head covered all over with long hair. He is an alarmist and protector of man. While Eiseborrdt traveled through the heavily wooded area of the Poconos, the dog circled him at a distance of about 50 yards. A call to the name Pitko brought immediate response to the master.

Fear of snakes and other wild life was eliminated with his presence. He responds to care and when reared in kennels and prepared for a show, he is among the handsomest of dogs. Unfortunately, the one given to Eiseborrdt in a bargain was accidentally killed on the highway about seven years ago. He was one of the prized possessions of Eiseborrdt.

Primary Political Opponents Present Expense Statements

Chairmen Of Parties Show Largest Total

REPUBLICANS for Sityder elected their man in the May 20 primary election, but it was an expensive campaign.

The expense account for the campaign, filed by Harold G. Kresge, treasurer, shows receipts of $3,155, including a $2,000 loan from Stroudsburg Security Trust Co., and disbursements of $1,884.65, mostly for auto expenses of workers and publicity.

Gerald A. Snyder defeated Benjamin K. Williams for the Republican party chairmanship of Monroe County. Snyder also filed a personal expense account in which he testified that his expenses did not exceed $150.

Car Use
Williams reported he contributed $872.32 to his own campaign fund. Expenditures of the same amount went mostly to workers for car use.

J. Nelson Westbrook, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, reported receipts of $391 and expenditures of $326.14.

Also filing statements which said their expenses did not exceed $150 were Clifford F. Heller, who defeated Graden Praetorius; Forrest R. Smith, unopposed for Democrat state committee; and Van D. Yetter, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the State Assembly.

The expense statements were filed with Monroe County Commissioners.

Chicago Firm Buys Store In Area

RONNIE'S Five-and-Ten-Cent Store, Arlington Heights, has been purchased by Butler Brothers, Chicago mercantile firm, the Associated Press reported yesterday.

The Associated Press said that Butler Brothers had bought from I. Lodge Co., Philadelphia, eight retail stores in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, including Ronnie's Five-and-Ten-Cent Store in Glenside, Lynnewood Gardens, East Lancaster and Stroudsburg.

Distribution
Butler Brothers said that the acquiring of the stores would enable it to expand distribution in important eastern markets. The amount involved in the transaction was not announced.

The deal was effective last Friday. Ray A. Mulford, store manager, said no personnel changes are anticipated.

Ronnie's local store is located next to the Acme Market, in the Arlington Heights Shopping Center.

Teachers Submit Salary Schedule

he's right out of college. But that doesn't bother me. I'll help him if he needs help. I have no gripe against him. But after you've been teaching for quite a while you begin to wonder whether experience isn't worth something," Slemmer said.

Battisto pointed out that "the intent of the schedule is merely to bring teachers who have five to 10 years of experience up on a level with the scale."

Davis said: "Some comments that have been made to me by experienced teachers show that they're asking questions. If it takes $4,000 to get a good teacher when he's just starting out, what kind of a teacher is the one who has the 15 years experience but is only getting $3,700?"

Bolyn promised that the salary proposals would be discussed and "introduced into our financial structure" for comparison purposes. He said that the committee would try to arrange to meet with the teachers again at the next regular committee meeting, "if we can get all this done by then."

Ross Common Playhouse

Arena Stage Arrangement Wins Praise As New Theater Presents Opening Night Play

By Leonard Randolph
ROSS COMMON — Opening nights are tough struggles in any theatre.

Given the added elements of a complex, unfeasibly episodic play and arena platform staging, you have some idea of the mountain over which Ross Common Playhouse labored Tuesday night.

The play was "Seven Year Itch" a "comedy" by George Axelrod which depends for its humor on the kind of double-meaning joke which must be played with extraordinary skill and lightness or it sounds like a dirty punchline. Some of the players had the necessary light touch Tuesday night. But the leading man, Mike Weinstein, was almost totally lacking in it and this was somewhat disastrous.

"Itch" is not a very good play. But, played properly, it can be made funny. Its humor depends a good deal on the improbability of its leading character's imagined roles as a debonaire Casanova, a licentious (if latent) rapist and a repentant lover. To be funny "Richard Sherman," the calm, bloodless publisher's assistant must seem utterly out of context in all the amorous shenanigans with which he involves himself during the course of the play, after his wife and son have packed off to the country for the summer.

On opening night Weinstein played the part with an intent seriousness which made "Sherman" about as innocent as Jack the Ripper and as naive as Porfirio Rubirosa or the junior of Rafael Trujillo.

The production has some fine moments. And Weinstein does deliver a comic line to good effect in a half-dozen spots in the play. But nearly all the professional value lies in the performance of Nancy Lloyd as the girl upstairs who wants to be an independent agent in a free, if overly married, society. Miss Lloyd looks a lot like Susan Hayward, has a fine figure, a lovely face, a fine sense of timing, good comic style and the refreshing mannerisms of a child in the more crucial scenes.

Dorothy Rector, Richard Turmail, and young Mike Terry contribute capable performances in lesser roles. Steve Dunn's voice is heard with fine effect as "Sherman's conscience," a misnomer if there ever was one.

Ross Common's arena stage is excellent. It has a good seating arrangement. It achieves much of the desired intimacy and immediacy which is supposed to be a direct by-product of the central stage with the audience seated on two sides (as in this case) or on all sides (as in theatre-in-the-round).

But the company has chosen a fatally unwise play for its first venture. Split into dozens of episodes and "blackouts" during which the actors can be seen moving off the platform and scouting through exits, the play gives the illusion of crawling along at a snail's pace when its timing is not actually that far off.

In most of the scenes this can be remedied simply by overlapping "Sherman's" speeches during the split seconds of the blackout, and through keeping the lights down a second or so longer.

The production values of the show are good. Minott Lee Coombs has directed most of his actors very well. If the first production of the Ross Common season lacks cohesion and comic effect, it is mostly the fault of the play and the weak leading performance.

Lions Receive Plaque From Athens Club

MARSHALLS CREEK — Woodrow M. Miller, District Governor (14-K) was on hand Tuesday night to install the new officers of the Stroudsburg Lions Club. The affair was staged at David Duke's Hotel.

Miller, before the installation, gave a brief talk in which he profusely thanked the Stroudsburg Club for the wonderful job it did with the recent state convention.

The speaker stated that he heard nothing but praise from conventionaires on the progress of the three-day meetings. Held at Camp Tamiment, he said that most wished to know, "When are we coming back to the beautiful Poconos?"

New Officers

Arthur Henning was installed as the new Lion Tamer. John Eller, who is on vacation, will serve as Tail Twister. Lester Abloff, Dr. Paul Maxwell and Dr. William Kopenhaver were installed as third, second and first vice-presidents.

John Regan, now on 11 weeks duty as a Lt. Commander with the U.S. Navy, will serve as president of the club for the coming fiscal year. Jake Kintz, a brother-in-law, accepted the president's pin for Regan.

Chairmen of all the committees, formed during the year by incumbent president J. Joseph McCluskey, made their reports.

Long time member William Livadas was present to present a plaque and read a letter of appreciation from the Athens, Greece, Lions Club. Livadas has been vacationing in Athens for the past 10 months.

He presented a gift of gong and gavel to the Athens Club from the Stroudsburg Club. Bill brought back the plaque as a gesture of fellowship and good will, and pride in the largest service club in the world, now in 89 countries.

A recent letter received by J. Joseph McCluskey, retiring president, was read at the meeting. Contents follow:

Dear Lion President:
At the occasion of Lion Livadas return to the U.S., we take the opportunity to send a small gift to the fellow Lions of Stroudsburg, Pa., from their brother Lions of Athens, Greece.

Dr. Koehler Speaks To Kiwanis Club

REPRESENTATIVES of three Kiwanis Clubs in New Jersey attended the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting yesterday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The delegation, numbering 40 men, are members of the clubs in Madison, Netcong and Somerville. Later, they toured points of interest in the Pocono resort area.

Speaker at the inter-club session was Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, whose talk delved into administrative and public relations matters pertaining to the college.

As to its value to the community, Dr. Koehler said the college pays out a half million dollars annually in faculty salaries alone.

Last term the college operated on a $1,100,000 budget, which figures out to an average cost of $1,000 for each of the 1,000 students enrolled.

Of the total cost, the students pay 55 percent and the Commonwealth the remaining 45 percent, Dr. Koehler said.

Local day students — those who do not room or board at the college — have a decided advantage here, the speaker noted, in that they are required to pay only the $144 tuition fee. Boarding students whose homes are in Pennsylvania pay $648 and those from out of the state are assessed $984.

Dr. Koehler discussed some of the problems facing the college, among them being lack of space to accommodate all the students who wish to enroll. Up to June 1, he said, 275 new students had been accepted for the Fall term and 180 turned down.

"We are continuing to raise the standard of the college," he said, "by accepting only those whose grades meet our high requirements."

"Pressure will make us grow, but we hope to stabilize our enrollment at about the 1,400 level," Dr. Koehler said.

The college could help itself, he observed, if it could buy more land adjoining the 43-acre campus. In this, the full cooperation of the interested property owners is necessary and is being solicited, the speaker said.

Turning to public relations, Dr. Koehler referred to a story appearing in last Saturday's Daily Record which mistakenly placed him in sharp disagreement with State Auditor General Charles Smith. When advised he had misinterpreted the college president's remarks, the reporter wrote a second story explaining Dr. Koehler's stand in the matter. This article ran in Monday's edition of The Record.

Julius Stapff served as program chairman. Rev. Roger C. Stinson, president, announced that Robert Kranendonk had been accepted as a member.

Multi-Level At Peak Of Styling

HERE IS the ever popular multi-level at the peak of mid-century styling. The stunning exterior effect is achieved by modern handling of brick, batten, generous roof overhang and the common street level.

Suggesting comfort that only a split-level can offer, there's enough extras in this model to delight every member of the family.

As one enters from the covered porch, the new trend in interior design is immediately apparent.

Spacious Foyer

A spacious foyer preserves privacy and permits access to all three levels. Straight through is the twenty foot long living room with its magnificent fireplace and window wall looking out onto the backyard and terrace.

To the right of the entrance-way on the same level is the kitchen and nook. Service zones in the kitchen will be a home-maker's delight. A plan desk has been thoughtfully provided in the nook portion of this area. A lavatory separates the nook from the attached garage. The garage is generous in dimensions and adds a work bench to delight the master of the family. A second doorway leads to the backyard.

To the left of the entrance-way is the modified staircase leading to the home's three master-size bedrooms and family bath.

Huge wall-to-wall closets with sliding doors service each of the bedrooms eliminating any storage problem on this level.

Steps Away

The bath is only steps away from the three bedrooms and features vanity and separate shower and tub facilities. The linen closet opens from both the outside hall and bath. Below the bedroom area is the home's recreation room and sub-level facilities. Here, where there's no premium on space, is the laundry area, additional storage facilities and utility fixtures.

Indeed, here is a home for today that embodies the best ideas of tomorrow.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building code requirements. The plan contains 1,378 square feet, 19,836 cubic feet and 349 square feet for the garage. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

If you prefer not to use the Order Form, omit and insert following: "Complete Building Plan, including Detail Sheet, Material List and Specification Guide for Design H-375 may be purchased for $9.75. Fire Ruins Police Barracks SHAMOKIN — Fire yesterday destroyed a new state police barracks under construction. The damage was estimated unofficially at $15,000.

The flames of undetermined origin swept through the one and one-half story building, which was scheduled for completion this fall. The frame and cement block building was located midway between Shamokin and Kulpmont.

Some Camps Exempt From Taxes

HARRISBURG — Two clarifying policy rulings issued yesterday by the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax relieve operators of certain summer camps for children of the responsibility of collecting both the hotel occupancy tax and the sales tax.

Clifford E. Roberts, Bureau Director, said the rulings were made at this time in order that camp operators will have a better understanding of the application of the tax acts.

Instruction

Summer camps which provide a program of planned instruction or training for children under the supervision of trained counselors are not "hotels" within the meaning of the Hotel Occupancy Act, Robert said. Consequently the operators of such camps are not required to collect the 3 per cent occupancy tax.

The Bureau also ruled that meals served at such summer camps are not taxable under the law. Operators of these camps are not deemed to be engaged in the business of conducting an eating place within the provisions of the Selective Sales and Use Tax act.

At the same time Roberts emphasized that these rulings are only applicable where there are bona fide supervised programs of training and instruction for children. Summer camps which do not meet the above requirements are subject to the provisions of both the Hotel Occupancy Tax and Sales Tax covering collections and remittance to the Department of Revenue.

I really used my head today

I stopped waiting...bought a new Plymouth...and man, what I saved!

Sometimes it's smart to wait... and sometimes it isn't! Take me. I was putting off buying that new car we needed. Then I dropped in at my Plymouth dealer's, just to look things over. It was the most profitable visit of my life.

I found I could get a price on a Plymouth a whole lot lower than I believed possible. PLUS a trade-in offer on my old car so high that I made 'em say it twice!

I saved a clean $140 on the Plymouth ride alone. That's famous Torsion-Aire Ride. It's standard on all Plymouths...but you have to pay up to $140 extra for the top ride of the other two leading cars in the low-price field.

And Plymouth proved it can save me gas money by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. (There's a brand-new Fuel-Saver Choke that makes your gas buck go a whole lot further!) It proved it will save me still more money at trade-in time, with Silver Dart Styling that will look new and bring more years from now!

Any way you look at it, here's a beauty that's a money-saver, too. I'm a proud guy right now...and a whole lot of money ahead! See your Plymouth dealer.

Today's best buy...tomorrow's best trade... Plymouth

Preparation For Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair Shows Acceleration As Date Nears

NEWFOUNDLAND — A sure sign that Summer has arrived in this area is the accelerated pace of preparations for the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair scheduled for August 20, 21, 22 and 23 on the fairgrounds.

Construction of a 348 by 80 foot exhibit building has been started. The structure, of pole barn design, has an eight foot by 80 foot shed-type overhang for livestock, and will house farm crops, exhibits, and handicraft formerly shown in the school auditorium.

Serving on the building committee are Lewis Osborn, George Schmalzle, Bruce Banks and Carroll Fetherman.

The fair this year will be "bigger and better than ever before," an annual prediction that comes true each year. Carroll Fetherman, president of the fair association, suggests that now is the time to be planning exhibits for the fair.

"Choose the plants you want to show and give them a little extra care to make them of prize-winning quality. Save the better part of your poultry flock... the chicken you eat for Sunday dinner won't take an award in the judging at the fair. Put those jams and jellies in a fancy jar so that they'll sparkle. A little forethought now will bring you a blue ribbon in August."

A special attraction this year will be the Lehigh Valley Quarter Midget Racing Club's appearance.

The "Jellybean" racers, piloted by track tigers who are of tricycle-toting age, are less than six feet long and approximately 28 inches high, and are powered by a two-horsepower gasoline engine.

Boys and girls in two age groups, four to eight, and eight to 15, will race the tiny cars on the fairgrounds with their mothers as the "home team cheering section" and their fathers as mechanics.

A greased pig will be turned loose every day of the fair, and a baby parade, inaugurated last year with great success, will be staged.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Even if it rains today, the Laurel Tournament at Glen Brook should be a success judging by the number of women out there yesterday, drugging the best part of their gardens inside to decorate the clubhouse, and filled with plans for entertaining the visiting golfers.

Future golfers joining in the women's clinic yesterday morning were Margaret Schell and Susan Harliacher, who were doing all right, too. In fact better than some of their elders, who after their session on the firing line were practicing their swings like mad.

One of them was heard to remark: "The trouble with my golf is that I have to play it with a ball. With clover heads and crab grass I play a perfect game."

A perfect cruise that's what Kay Shook and Mard Williams are having for themselves according to the first reports filtering back from the Greek Liner Olympia.

Mrs. Floyd Shafer and Susan arrived back in town yesterday afternoon after seeing Ann off on the student ship sailing from Montreal with 1,000 Experimenters. Of course, Mary Grace has already gone and Jeanette Nitrner is sailing next week.

It makes Europe seem practically across the street to have so many of our young people gadding about in it.

Well, we've some gadding about to do on our own today, so let's.

Scoop On Ice Cream Given By Home Economist

By Margaret MacLaren
Home Economist, Monroe Co.

We're eating our way through over a billion pounds of milk and cream in ice cream each year—about 8% of the nation's milk supply. This is at the rate of 15 quarts yearly per person.

Vanilla, chocolate and strawberry continue to be top sellers, but there are more than 200 varieties to choose from.

The big story of ice cream begins with a history buried deep in the forgotten past. Alexander the Great was served the first scoop—not the ice cream we know, but fruit juice and sweetened milk served in bowls surrounded by melting snow.

Emperor Nero and Marco Polo relished it. In the 17th century King Charles of England purchased the secret of ice cream—making from a French chef—giving him a yearly pension of 500 pounds to guard the secret for the royal table. Dolly Madison is said to have served it only to special guests in the White House.

Jacob Fussell, a milk dealer in Baltimore in 1851, used the summer surplus of milk for the first wholesale manufacturing of ice cream. His plant was located in Seven Valleys, Pennsylvania. So, commercial ice cream became a business in Pennsylvania, and today Pennsylvania ranks first in its production.

Pennsylvania's ice cream has a minimum requirement of 10% milk fat, excepting for fruit and nut varieties which have an 8% milk fat requirement. A gallon of ice cream must weigh 4 1/2 lbs. in Pennsylvania.

In Pennsylvania ice milk differs in fat content. Legally it needs no fat but for practical purposes, ice milk contains 3-6% milk fat. Store it in its own insulated bag in a refrigerator freezer combination, or in a freezer. In other refrigerators, remove ice cream from its carton and store in the metal freezing tray.

Cover with wax paper. For ice cream of a good scooping consistency the temperature should be from 10-15 degrees F. Ice cream desserts such as parfaits or ice cream cakes can be stored in their own serving dishes for a few hours in advance.

Rehearsal for the chorus will be held Thursday nights. They will be under the direction of Jack Strupcewski, music supervisor at GDS. Anyone interested in the chorus, whether or not they are members of the Woman's Club, will be welcomed at the rehearsal.

There comes to my attention a very lovely letter written to our personal shopper, Betty Bartholomew, from a customer who is, without doubt, very satisfied with our Wyckoff services. She writes:

"I congratulate you in every respect. Your interest in the customers of A. B. Wyckoff, your efficiency, promptness and interest in the fineness of A. B. Wyckoff's reputation which you uphold. It is people like you who help to carry on the reputation of a firm from generation to generation. Our Mr. Wyckoff employs only the Best of People! With the best of wishes to you and the firm of A. B. Wyckoff."

Sincerely yours,

Everyone in our store takes pride in such a letter. Sometimes all of us slip beneath the level of our best... but for the most part we DO try, and letters like this indicate that we DO succeed.

Please don't ask me the names of all the pretty girls working at Wyckoff's right now. I don't know one third of my colleagues—but most of them smile and speak anyway, and we'll miss them in the Fall when they return to school or other pursuits. Two of the girls took time the other afternoon to point out some of the new items in the gift department—among them the vases, bowls, and candy dishes of milk glass. Some have floral decoration; some, ivy leaves. One dish that is particularly beautiful and sentimental is shaped like a heart and has three compartments—one, let us say, for hard candies like Keiller's, all prettily wrapped and colorful; one for chocolates—Russell Stover, of course! and another for salted nuts. Why not buy it—and FILL it—right here at A. B. Wyckoff? ... It isn't often I go to the beach, but we do have the peachiest, beachiest terry towels in our domestic department that I've ever seen. At 1.98 there is a clown, happily coveting the full length of one jumbo sized towel; at 2.98 there is a towel with all sorts of warnings: Beware, Fragile, Plan Ahead, etc.; at 3.98 and 4.98 there are Neptune and his mermaids, big saucy plaids and many other gay, humorous styles. For the life of me, I can't see why these giant sized, thirsty towels wouldn't be at home on the rack over the bathtub... Also in our domestic department, I stop to examine the new nylon scouring sponge, appropriately enough called "Handy Annie." The sponge has its own case of woven nylon in gay color, and I assumed you removed it for use. Hattie Walters tells me NO—you use it as is, and it's marvelous for wiping out bathtubs, etc. Also it remains attractive looking, despite the rigor of its chores. The price is 45c and it is a suitable mate for the nylon scouring cloth which is woven identically to the Handy Annie case. These cloths look stiff and crisp when dry, but Jean Izler says they're soft as silk when wet. As a matter of fact, she used one as a washcloth on a trip, and found it very suitable because it dries in a twinkling... It's good to see Elsie Logan back at her desk in WVPO's office, and to hear her back on the air. She's been very ill for the past six weeks, but is beginning to look chipper once again even though she still feels a mite on the rocky side.

Rockefeller Report

Excellence Model For Inspiration

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles reprinting the summary of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund study of U. S. education which was released June 23.)

III. Educational System

A. The Informal Educational System

The formal educational system offers only part of the purposeful education that goes on in a society. Family, church and school share the fundamental responsibility for education. But in a sense every institution in a society is constantly teaching its members, molding their behavior, contributing to their development: in childhood it may be the scout leader, the playground director, the policeman on the corner; in later years the employer, the union, the mass media.

The most effective educational system can be defeated by a social environment that blunts or destroys aspiration. There can be no striving for excellence without models to inspire emulation.

B. The Formal Educational System

Our schools are overcrowded, understaffed, and ill-equipped. In the fall of 1957, the shortage of public school classrooms stood at 142,000. There were 1,943,000 pupils in excess of "normal" classroom capacity. These pressures will become more severe in the years ahead. Elementary school enrollments will rise from some 22,000,000 today to about 34,000,000 by 1960-61. By 1969 high schools will be deluged with 50 to 70 per cent more students than they can now accommodate.

date; by 1975, our colleges and universities will face at least a doubling and in some cases a tripling of present enrollments.

If we are to meet these pressures, our schools will need greatly increased public support and attention and much more money. But they also need something besides money: an unending re-examination of current practices, patterns of organization and objectives.

From time to time one still hears arguments over quantity versus quality education. Behind such arguments is the assumption that a society can choose to educate a few people exceedingly well or to educate a great number of people somewhat less well, but that it cannot do both. But a modern society such as ours cannot choose to do one or the other. It has no choice but to do both.

C. The Teaching Profession

The number of new school teachers needed in the next decade is between one-third and one-half of all the four-year college graduates of every kind in the same period. The danger of a decline in the quality of our corps of teachers is obvious.

The problem of recruitment is inseparable from the preparation required to enter the teaching profession. If the programs for the preparation of teachers are rigid, formalistic and shallow, they will drive away able minds as fast as they are recruited. Unhappily, preparation has come all too close to that condition. In some states the requirements for certification are so technical and trivial as to make it unlikely that individuals with a first-class liberal education would even apply—or be eligible if they did apply.

Fortunately, there appears to be a lively movement to correct these difficulties. As for the preparation of college teachers, the problem is one of reforming and expanding graduate education. There has been more emphasis on research and research training than on the preparation of teachers.

But even with aggressive recruitment there appears to be little or no likelihood that we can bring into teaching at any level anything approaching the number of qualified and gifted teachers we need. We can be certain that there will never be enough teachers with the extraordinary human gifts which make for inspired teaching. We must therefore utilize our superior teachers more effectively.

One way to make better use of the ablest teachers is to eliminate many of the petty tasks which occupy a teacher's time. Less highly trained classroom assistants may accomplish much in the lightening of this burden. Another measure is the employment of such devices as television to bring extraordinarily effective teachers into contact with larger numbers of students than they would otherwise face. Films may be similarly useful.

Such innovations as the teacher aide and television should not be thought of as stopgap measures to surmount the immediate teacher shortage, but as the beginnings of a long overdue revolution in teaching techniques.

But the root problem of the teaching profession remains financial. Salaries must be raised immediately and substantially. Almost as important is the fact that promotional policy for most school systems is routine and depends much more on seniority than on merit.

D. The Curriculum

At the pre-college level, the gravest problem today is to reach some agreement on priorities in subject-matter. This problem is particularly critical for those academically talented students who will go on to college. Without presuming to lay down an inflexible set of recommendations, we may suggest what these high-priority items in a solid high school curriculum might be for those of considerable academic ability:

In addition to the general education prescribed for all—four years of English, three to four years of social studies, one year of mathematics and one year of sciences—the academically talented student should have two to three additional years of mathematics, and at least three years of a foreign language. For certain students the study of a second foreign language, for at least three years, might replace the fourth year of science.

Particularly with respect to the highest-priority subjects, we must modernize and improve the quality of the courses themselves.

Pope Makes Appointment

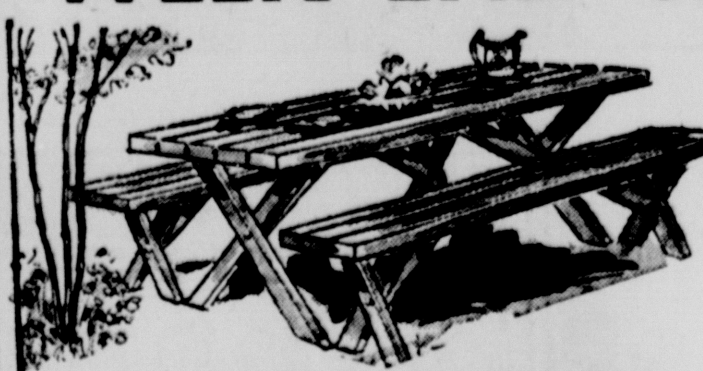

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Plus XII yesterday named Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian a member of the Congregation of the Holy Office, high governing body of the Roman Catholic Church.

It was the second high honor this week for the Armenian patriarch and it brought mention of his name, along with those of several other cardinals, in talk about who might be the next Pope.

On Wednesday, Pope Plus appointed 62-year-old Cardinal Agagianian prosecretary of the Vatican's Congregation for Propagation of the Faith, succeeding the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago.

The cardinal also retained his post as head of the Vatican Congregation for the Oriental Church, with nominal jurisdiction over Roman Catholics in the Soviet Union.

First Deed Of Kind In Area

A DEED of extinguishment for ground rent, believed the first ever recorded here, was filed yesterday in the office of Floyd Butz, register and recorder.

Attorney Harold C. Edwards, who filed the document, said it is the first he can remember here. It calls for payment of $20,000 by Megargel's Golf, Inc., Canadensis, to the Home Life Assurance Co. of America, Philadelphia.

The payment cancels a monthly rental of $100 which had been paid by Megargel's.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to appear in this column. Copy the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the letter grid and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

SOMETIME AROUND major league baseball all-star time, Commissioner of Baseball Ford Frick will have to make one of the biggest decisions of his life.

At stake will be a young man's diamond career, baseball in general, and a club's statistical fortunes.

While little has been written and reported on the ultimate verdict, two schools of thought have been bantered about quietly, but effectively.

The man in question is Ed Bouchee, spectacular rookie of the year for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1957 who got himself into trouble via a morals charge this past winter.

The problems Frick must weigh before giving a verdict are many-fold.

In Bouchee he must consider the affect of fandom from natural-born hecklers who hibernate every ball park in the nation waiting for an opportunity to chastise one who has run afoul of the law. Can Bouchee ward off these remarks? Or will the barbarians taunts have a greater effect on the slugging Phil?

Possibly, for Bouchee's own good, it might be better if Frick ruled against his return to the game.

The case of Bouchee as a regular news story was plastered from coast to coast. Children and teenagers—the main core of baseball fans year after year—know the story backward and forward.

Frick must consider whether it is fair to jeopardize the long-standing formula of making the ball-player the idol of the young set. If he lets Bouchee come back then there is more than an even chance that every time something of this nature comes up again the sport will lose its national pastime flavor.

The Phillies, to be sure, are in dire need of Bouchee's services around the initial sack. Also his big bat which accounted for a majority of the Phils runs last year is sorely needed as the Quaker City nine battles to get into the first division in the National League.

But again, is the possible ruin of a young man, physically and mentally, just for the "good" of a ball club reason enough to take him back and send him to the wolves?

His teammates, almost to a man want Bouchee back. We imagine almost most of America wants Bouchee to get back into harness.

But as we said what people want and what is best for baseball, the Phils, fans and particularly Bouchee is situations the Commissioner will have to probe.

Bouchee has been working out for a month under coach Benny Bengough and is still under the care of a doctor.

Both Bob Carpenter and Frick have said that no decision will be made until the media says Bouchee is completely cured.

However, the doctor's final word will not be the quote which opens the door for Ed. In another vocation Bouchee might get lost in the shuffle. But in baseball, especially in the majors, all players are in the limelight. What newspapers and radio built up for years, TV has come along and made the major leaguer a bigger idol.

It will be a long two weeks for Frick until the time comes for him to render the verdict.

If Bouchee knows all the facts and the problems which confront him, and the fans of major league ball are more liberal and give the Phil an even break then we are for the return of Bouchee.

America should be one place where the past should be forgotten if the future shows promise. Bouchee is well worth the gamble.

After all he only signs on a year-to-year basis and if the confidence of his owners, friends and players indicate full support then everyone who is anyone should beat the drums for his triumphant return.

McKay Keeps Pace At Wimbledon

Green Gains Third Round; Gibson Idle

By Sterling Slappey
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Barry MacKay patched up his blistered racket hand with adhesive tape Wednesday and kept pace with the other seeded players to keep alive America's chances for the men's title in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

Althea Gibson, the defending champion in the women's division, was idle but third-seeded Mrs. Dorothy Head Knödel, also a New Yorker, was upset in a second-round match.

Gusty winds and light showers handicapped play and a heavy rain late in the day forced the officials to call off play with 13 matches still unplayed and 10 others unfinished.

Mike Green, Miami Beach, Fla., was the other American man to survive Wednesday's second-round play. Five others didn't finish their day's work and four were eliminated. Those who were beaten included Bill Quillan of Seattle, Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., Malcolm Fox of Baltimore and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis.

Dupont Advances
Mrs. Margaret Dupont of Wilmington, Del., the 1947 Wimbledon champion, breezed through Britain's J. A. Fulton 6-1, 6-0 to advance to the second round that Miss Gibson and several others reached Wednesday. Margaret Varner of El Paso, Tex., the world's No. 2 badminton player, fell before Britain's Ann Haydon 6-3, 1-6, 6-2.

MacKay, the 22-year-old from Dayton, Ohio ventured into near gale winds to whip Britain's Eric Bulmer 6-1, 9-7, 6-2.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia, nearing complete recovery from a pulled thigh muscle, defeated Franz Saiko of Austria, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1. Second-seeded Mal Anderson, another Australian, eliminated Spain's Andres Gimeno 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Australia's Mervyn Rose, seeded No. 3, let Frost get far ahead in each set before pulling him back and finally beating him 6-4, 10-8, 6-4.

Mrs. Knödel was the first seeded player to take a beating. She lost important matches to the British in the Wightman Cup competition two weeks ago and Wednesday she lost to Christine Merrells of Belgium 6-3, 7-5.

Green had little trouble beating Australia's Bert Kearney 7-5, 6-1, 6-4 with his varied game. The young Floridian appeared to tire a bit in the third set but still was superior to the Aussie.

Not So Fortunate
The other Americans were not so fortunate. Quillan bowed to Britain's M. P. Hann 11-9, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Buchholz met fifth-seeded Luis Ayala of Chile and was eliminated 6-4, 8-6, 8-6. Fox was whipped by Don Candy of Australia 6-4, 10-8, 6-4.

Denmark's powerful Kurt Nielsen, seeded No. 6, downed Britain's G. L. Ward 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, 8-10, 6-2.

Seventh seeded Sven Davidson of Sweden brushed past Francisco Contreras of Mexico 6-2, 10-8, 8-6.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, seeded fourth among the women, breezed past Renee Schuurman of South Africa 6-0, 6-2.

Phils Nip Cubs In 10th
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chico Fernandez' two-out triple in the 10th inning scored Harry Anderson Wednesday night to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs. It was Fernandez' second triple of the game.

The victory went to Dick Farrell, who relieved starter Ray Semproch in the seventh.

Dishman One-Hits Trust For 13-0 Stout LL Win

DICK Dishman threw a one-hitter at Security Trust to lead Stout Glass to a 13-0 victory over the Trust in a Stroudsburg Little League game last night.

The win was the second in eight games for Stout's, while the loss evened Security's record at 4-4.

Tom Wright and Don Stout led a nine-hit attack on losing pitcher Danny Hill. Both of Wright's blows were extra basers—a double and triple.

Harwi Ready To Bid For Race Crown

NAZARETH — Otto Harwi, the 1955-56-57 stock car champ from Easton, announced last Sunday night that he's back in the run for the 1958 title at the Nazareth Fairgrounds when he soundly whipped a field of 52 cars.

This coming Sunday night, 8:15 p. m., Harwi will return to Nazareth, along with dozens of modified and sportsman stock cars, for a sizzling live event show. There will be three 10-lap heats, a 12-lap consolation, and a 25-lap feature.

Harwi, who has taken the point leadership, not only trounced his opposition last week, but he set an all-time 25-lap record in the time of 12 minutes, 14.3 seconds. After the race he said, "I'm ready to take on any driver, my car is set, and we're both raring to go."

Other Entries

Heading the vast field of cars appearing at Nazareth from the states of New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania are such names as Al Tansady, Bud Olson, Dick Tobias, Duke Southern, Fred Fehr, Sonny Strupp, Charley South, Ken Wismer, Harry Charles, Marty Acker, Dan Mitchell, Jim Metzler, Herb Mason and others.

The Nazareth half-mile track has offered the drivers an increased purse this week, with special purse provisions for sportsman car entries. This has resulted in a large turnout of racers, with the sportsman giving the modifieds much competition.

The last race found eight cars getting banged around and Dan Mitchell suffered head hurts, and underwent x-rays at the Easton Hospital. He is ready to resume racing this week.

Monday night, the Tigers of Weldon Hector defeated Gilpin's Braves 15 to 3, with Bob Duty pitching for the winners and Jim Hinton for the losers. Bob Strupewski accounted for the only home run of the game.

Two Ousted In England

HUNSTANTON, England (AP) — Mrs. Frank Stranahan, the last American in the field, and defending champion Philomena Garvey of Dublin were eliminated Tuesday in the second round of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Mrs. Stranahan, wife of the wealthy Toledo, Ohio professional, was beaten by Angela Bonalack of England, 7-and-6.

Miss Garvey lost 2-up to Janette Robertson, a 23-year-old Scot. With the fall of the veteran Irish star, the outstanding favorite, the tournament became a wide open affair.

There are four former champions among the eight quarter-finalists. They are Mrs. Jesse Valentine, Mrs. Frances Smith, Mrs. Jean Hetherington and Mrs. Kitty McCann. All are British.

Senior Golfers Qualify Sept. 16

NEW YORK (AP) — Qualifying trials will be held Sept. 16 for the National Senior Amateur Golf Championship.

The U. S. Golf Assn., announced Friday the 18-hole playoffs for positions in the 120-man field would be staged the same 24 sites as last year.

The tournament will be held at Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 29-Oct. 4. The defending champion is Clark Espie of Indianapolis.

No One Picking Favorite

Top Women's Golf Tourney To Open In Detroit Today

DETROIT (AP) — The biggest women's golf tournament — the U. S. Women's Open — starts here Thursday and no one is picking a favorite.

A field of 57 including 29 professionals, will tee off at the Forest Lake Country Club.

Patty Berg, the all-time money winner on the ladies' circuit, is always one of the top choices. She officially is credited with more than $112,000 in winnings since the LPGA started keeping records 10 years ago. She topped the ladies again last year in earnings with $16,272.

Miss Berg has scored two seconds, two thirds, a pair of fourths and a seventh in seven winter tour tournaments this year and none of her rivals has approached her steadiness.

She finished second in the women's classic last year when Hawaiian Jackie Pung was disqualified for attesting to an improper

Rawls Victor

After Miss Pung was ruled out, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., became the winner.

Also rated among the early choices is long-hitting Faye Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay. The confident Miss Crocker won the Open crown in 1955, her second year as a professional.

"I did it once," said Miss Crocker, "and I can do it again. I'm a better player now than I was then. I have more experience and experience counts a lot in a tournament like this."

Pette Marlene Haggie, the leading money winner two years ago, apparently has regained that sensational form. In her last six tournament starts she has scored one victory and twice finished second.

The Forest Hills course will play at either 6,240 or 6,250 yards for the ladies, depending upon tee placements. Par will be 37-36-73.

Flood Rated Next To Mays

PITTSBURGH (AP) — In the opinion of St. Louis Manager Fred Hutchinson only Willie Mays of San Francisco outranks young Curtis Flood of the Cardinals as the best center fielder in the National League.

Hutchinson, normally an impassive baseball man, is aglow over the 20-year-old Flood's .300 batting average and ninth-inning home run that defeated Pittsburgh Tuesday night 2-1.

"Flood," Hutchinson said, "is best center fielder in the league, all around, next to Willie Mays."

The Cardinals got Flood last December in General Manager Bing Devine's first deal Devine dealt away pitchers Willard Schmidt and two minor league hurlers for Flood and Joe Taylor.

Odds Seen Against Senate Action On Bill To Exempt Pro Sports From Antitrust Laws

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comments of key senators indicated Wednesday the odds are against Senate action this year on a House-passed bill to exempt major professional team sports from the antitrust laws.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, said he was "personally disinclined to ward a complete exemption" such as the House voted Tuesday.

"In any event," he told a reporter, "it would be necessary to have extensive hearings as the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission have not expressed themselves" on the legislation in the form it passed the House.

Other Members

Two other subcommittee members, Sens. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), said in separate interviews they are not sufficiently familiar with the measure to take a stand on it. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), another subcommittee member, said he thought the House bill was acceptable. He added, however, it would be necessary to have hearings.

Practices governing the operation of professional football, baseball, hockey and basketball teams would be exempt from antitrust laws under the House bill, passed by voice vote.

The exemption would not apply, however, to such strictly business activities of club owners as the sale of tickets and concessions for the sale of food and drink.

The legislation is an outgrowth of Supreme Court rulings that organized pro baseball is exempt from antitrust laws but that other professional team sports are not.

The bill passed by the House was offered by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) as a substitute for a measure of Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) which would have limited the exemption to practices deemed "reasonably necessary" to continuation of the sports.

Celler's bill had been approved by the House Judiciary Committee, but club owners backed the substitute measure adopted by the House.

Likes Celler Approach

Kefauver said he was inclined "more toward the Celler bill approach" from the antitrust laws.

He said that in the next day or two he would call a meeting of the subcommittee or check with the members individually to find out "what course they wish to pursue."

In saying extensive hearings would be needed if the bill is to be considered at all by the Senate before Congress adjourns, Kefauver said.

"This is a matter of great importance not only to the people in these sports but also to the officials of the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission."

Major Leagues Scout Youngsters

WALKERSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Fourteen major league teams are waving offers in front of Dick Smith, brilliant pitcher with the Walkersville High School team this spring.

All clubs except Los Angeles and St. Louis have had scouts looking over the 18-year-old phenom who struck out 123 batters in 49 innings. The left-hander allowed only two earned runs and wound up with a no-hitter for an 8.0 season record.

of our house and we'd like to get rid of it, or the horns, without getting stung. Is there anything we can do for them?

At this time of year, hornets, wasps and other stinging pests often build their nests around homes, garages or porches, and they can be a real nuisance.

CONTROL: You can knock them out by spraying the nests with DDT or chlordane. Drench the nests at night—they're not very active in the dark. After a day or so, the pests will be dead and it'll be reasonably safe to remove the nest and burn it. I might add that while most of these stinging insects can make you "mad as a hornet," they do a lot of good by eating harmful insects.
